

What are the English Language requirements?

The teaching language in the Agricultural University of Athens is Greek. Nevertheless, there are courses that are available to Erasmus students taught in English.

English language qualifications

Erasmus/exchange students do not have to take an English language entrance test. However, they must be fluent in spoken and written English. If English is not your native language, you must show evidence of your fluency in English in your application. For this, you will need to include either

- a qualification of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages – at a minimum level of B2 or
- a University entrance examination or an internal examination taken at your Home University (with an explanation of the level of the examination)

If you do not have an appropriate qualification, you can ask your Home University to test your English and write a letter certifying your standard in relation to the above.
